BRISTOL TO RETAIN CLASS A CUP WON AT GEORGE SCHOOL

Doylestown is Awarded the Chamber of Commerce
Cup

WON BY A HALF POINT

Heated Controversy by The Officials As They Render
Their Decisions

DOYLESTOWN, May 18—Officials of the Bucks County Interscholastic Track and Field Meet were in session here yesterday from two until six o'clock to make final disposition of the awards won at the meet held last Saturday at George School, Newtown.

The Chamber of Commerce cup was awarded to Doylestown, students of the Doylestown schools having amassed a total of 46 points. Bristol was second with a total of 45½ points. This cup is awarded on a competitive basis, with the best times, distances and heights compared in various classes for the same events.

Following were the final points given:

Doylestown, 46; Bristol, 45½; Quakertown, 15; Sellersville, 4½; Morrisville, 25; Perkasie, 4; Langhorne-Middletown, 10; New Hope, 4; Bristol Township, 13; Hulmeville, 5; Newtown, 3; Yardley, 2; Edgewood, 3.

There was considerable controversy over awarding the Class A cup to Bristol to whom it was given last Saturday. It appears that the rules of meet provide for awarding of class cups to schools making most points in both scholastics and athletics. Bristol did not compete in the scholastic events but won all her points in athletics. Doylestown claimed Class A cup on the basis that she had competed in both scholastics and athletics and was thus entitled to the cup.

In Class A, Bristol scored 46 points and Doylestown 45½.

The Class A cup was engraved to read as having been awarded for athletics. Scholastics were not mentioned on the cup through an error.

Bristol was permitted to retain Class A cup and a special cup was given to Doylestown for scholastics. This led to considerable controversy and it was suggested that there should be special cups in each of the other classes awarded to schools who had surpassed in athletics or scholastics. No action was taken.

MANY ORDER MOTORS

Great preparations are being made for the coming season's activities by members of the Anchor Yacht Club, it was learned at a recent business meeting.

The entertainment committee has been instructed to prepare a program to be given in conjunction with the next regular meeting, early in June, and the formal opening of the season is scheduled for the same time.

Much interest is being manifest in outboard motors, and outboard motors, six new outboards having already been added to the club this spring. Several more are also promised. Andrew Brennen has a new 18 horse-power Elitquad outboard motor; Elmer Aulter has secured a new Elit Speedster, seven horse-power outboard motor; Dr. John J. Hargrave and Sylvester Harkins each have a new Johnson outboard. A new Caille outboard is in the hands of Harry Neeld, not to mention Bud Bruner's little one-fung outboard.

Several of the motor-boats are already in commission and the work on the balance is rapidly being pushed forward. The "Buddy," owned by Edward Dougherty, is likewise in good condition.

Bruner is installing a new Gray engine in his yacht, "Adieu," while Malcolm Lovett is placing a new "Chrysler" in his cruiser, "Pest."

Altogether members of the club are expecting to enjoy a pleasant season upon the water, with their families and friends participating in the interesting sport.

FOUR-DAY MOTOR TRIP OUTLINED THROUGH PA.

Susquehanna Trail Leads Past
Many Quaint Old
Towns

FINE MOUNTAIN SCENES

A motor trip through central Pennsylvania, including Harrisburg and Williamsport to the Allegheny National Forest, is offered by the Keystone Automobile Club as an exploration trip which will take from three to four days.

"The tour outlined for this week," said Russell B. Carty, special representative of the Keystone Automobile Club in Bristol, "takes the automobilist through the great farming section, the mountain regions and the forests of the state.

"It is also worth mentioning that the entire trip is on hard surfaced roads, including many new stretches of concrete, with no detours, according to our latest advice from the State Highway Department."

In outlining this tour, the bureau limits the travelling distance to 200 miles per day, at the most. At this rate, the entire trip is made in three days. If the driver wishes, he can divide the journey into easier stages, using four days.

The Susquehanna Trail passes through some quaint old towns, such as Liverpool, Port Trevorton and Northumberland to Lewisburg. Continue on to Williamsport, a large industrial city, where it is suggested that the trip end for the day.

The second day's trip continues north on the Susquehanna Trail to Covington. A series of picturesque panoramas will be unfolded to the traveler through Trout Run, Steam Valley, Buttonwood and Blossburg. The colorful mountain scenery of the Trail rivals that of the Old National Trail and the Lincoln Highway.

At Covington, turn left into the Roosevelt Highway, a new concrete road recently paved by the state. It was named the Roosevelt Highway in tribute to the late Theodore Roosevelt. This excellent road leads to Wellsboro, which is situated in the heart of the most primitive section of the state. Wild life abounds, and the road-way runs through wooded vales, where little lakes and streams provide fine trout fishing for the ardent sportsman.

LOWER BUCKS COUNTY TO JOIN REGIONAL PLANNING MOVEMENT

Group of Representative Citizens Meet and Organize to Raise $5,000 as Contribution to Constructive Work—Endorse the Project and Pledge Their Personal Support to It.

A group of representative citizens of lower Bucks County met in the Municipal Building yesterday afternoon to discuss ways and means of raising $5,000 as a contribution toward the work of the Regional Planning Federation of the Philadelphia Tri-State District.

It was explained at the outset of the meeting that it was the consensus of opinion of those interested in the development of lower Bucks County that the work of the Regional Planning Federation was a constructive one and one which will conserve those things which should be conserved and systematized and guide through proper channels the development and growth of the territory.

The meeting here yesterday was the outgrowth of a joint meeting of the Bristol Rotary and Exchange clubs held several weeks ago. At that meeting Col. Samuel P. Wetherill, Jr., of Philadelphia, vice-chairman of the Federation, gave a most interesting and instructive illustrated talk upon the subject of regional planning.

Those present at the meeting yesterday were Joseph R. Grundy, Clifford L. Anderson, Hugh B. Eastburn, William H. H. Fine, Lester D. Thorne, Bristol; Henry W. Comfort, Fallington; Jesse Everitt, Hulmeville; Dr. Henry Lovett, Langhorne; Thomas B. Stockham, Morrisville.

Opening the meeting as chairman Mr. Grundy summarized the purpose of the gathering in the following manner:

"An organization has been formed in the southeastern section of our state includes the state of Delaware and a portion of New Jersey, known as the Regional Planning Federation. The organizers of this movement are influential, public spirited and far-seeing men, firmly convinced of the necessity of making a survey of the territory above mentioned, from the standpoint of its future development.

"We are all convinced that the suburban development in our neighborhood, brought about by the building of good roads and the use of the automobile; during the past twenty years, has been without appreciation of the realization of the future or even a thought of the future or even a realization of enjoyment of all the possibilities which the present could afford.

"Our suburban development has been solely from the standpoint of profit to promoters and destructive of such that should have been preserved and cherished.

"The Regional Planning Federation is planning an exhaustive survey of the parts of New Jersey tributary to Philadelphia, the State of Delaware, the Counties of Chester, Philadelphia, Delaware, Montgomery and Bucks; from the standpoint of the conservation and purification of streams, preserving woodlands, park developments, sewerage systems in territories having common watersheds, by-pass highways to avoid metropolitan congestion; in fact accumulating an engineering reservoir of information which will be available for any given community within the territory to draw upon when considering plans for development.

"It will also be a constant constructive force to create a public sentiment to require developments to be considered from effect upon public interests as against the selfish personal element which in the past has so frequently prevailed.

"The cost of this survey is being met by public spirited citizens and companies throughout the territory for which the survey is to be made; Bucks County being asked for a very modest part."

It was agreed that the basis for raising the money desired should be the banking resources of the respective communities in lower Bucks County. It was also decided that $50 should be raised in each community for each $100,000 of banking resources.

All of the gentlemen present endorsed and pledged to their personal support and expressed their willingness to solicit financial co-operation in their respective communities.

Those at the meeting along with others will act as a committee to raise the desired sum. They will sell the subject of regional planning to public spirited residents in their respective areas.

LEEDOM'S TAKES GAME FROM A. O. H., 5 TO 3

Carpet Makers Win First
Contest of Twilight
Season

WON IN THE LAST INNING

(By T. M. June)

Leedom's won their first game of the season on St. Ann's Field last evening when they defeated the A. O. H. team by the score of 5 to 3.

Leedom's won the game in the last inning. Brooks walked, and was forced by Cooper. David doubled, scoring Brooks. Riola sacrificed David to third where he scored on an error by Thompson. A. O. H. almost won the game in their half of the inning, but only scored one run. Margerum singled; Lyden also singled. H. Brady forced Margerum at third. Hagney struck out and J. Brady singled, scoring Lyden. It was a close play at the plate but the throw to White was low, causing him to drop the ball. J. Dougherty batted for Kervick and drew a pass, filling the bases. Lawler had a chance to win his own game or tie the score, but Brooks bore down and fanned him.

Brooks pitched good ball for the carpetmakers and although he was found for ten hits he proved very tight. Lawler was on the hill for the "Hibs" and pitched winning ball, but fate was against him. J. Brady had a field day at bat, connecting for three hits in three times up. It was the first defeat for the "Hibs."

Johnny Mulholland's clan scored a run in the initial inning. Cooper went out, Lawler to Lyden. David received free transportation to first, and went to second unmolested. Riola singled, David counting. White fanned. Mangan hit in front of the plate and was out at first. J. Brady to Lyden.

McClafferty fled to Cooper. F. Dougherty singled. Margerum fled to Jeffries. Lyden hit a one-base blow, putting Dougherty on third. H. Brady's high fly was gathered by White.

The carpetmakers scored two more in the second. After Jeffries and Brushia had fled to Dougherty and Lawler, respectively, H. Cochran singled. Brooks drew a base on balls. Cochran went to third on a passed ball. Brooks stole second. Cooper's single scored Cochran and Brooks. Cooper was nailed when he tried to pilfer second.

A. O. H. scored their first run in their half of the second. Hagney received three bases on his long walllop. J. Brady's hit scored Hagney. Brooks then put the brakes on the works and fanned Kervick and Lawler, while Thompson's easy roller put him out at first after J. Brady stole second.

A double play set Leedom's back in their part of the third. After David fanned, Riola walked and White got to first on an error. Mangan fled to Kervick, whose throw to Dougherty doubled Riola.

Dougherty singled to begin the A. O. H. half of the inning. But Margerum and Lyden fanned while H. Brady hit to second and went out at first.

Jeffries, Brushia and Cochran were set down in order in the Leedom's fourth.

In the "Hibs" half another run was scored. After Hagney had been retired, J. Brady singled again. Kervick hit the breezes and Lawler hit to Riola, whose throw to first had the runner beat, but Mangan failed to hold the ball and all hands were safe. Thompson, who had been injured in batting practice and had his lips well bandaged, came through with a single, scoring J. Brady. Dougherty failed to hit.

Leedom's won the game in their fifth. Brooks walked and was forced by Cooper. David's double scored

Today

Fred Prichard, Newportville, is being held here in the municipal jail for Philadelphia authorities on the charge of aiding and abetting a felon to escape.

It is alleged by the Philadelphia authorities that Charles Miller, Philadelphia, charged with shooting the assistant manager of the Cross Keys Theater, Philadelphia, March 21st, was with Prichard from Wednesday, May 9th, until Friday, May 11th, at Newportville. Prichard is then alleged to have taken Miller away in a Ford coupe presumably for Croydon station, where the latter was to board a train for New York. Prichard did not return home until Sunday, it is said.

Prichard has given an alibi which the police allege does not check correctly. He was taken into custody yesterday by Chief John J. McCuekin, of Bristol. He is being held on information received from Charles Beckman, for Detectives Mays and McGarity, of Philadelphia.

It is expected that the Philadelphia police will come here today and then Prichard will be given a hearing and will probably be turned over to the Philadelphia police.

FOOD MONOPOLIES

Ten years ago the big meat-packing enterprises—Armour, Swift, Cudahy and others—were branching out into many unrelated lines of business, selling groceries, fish and vegetables, confectioneries and nearly every other commodity. They owned stockyards, stockyard railroads and terminals, market newspapers and cold storage warehouses. That was the day when monopolies were regarded as inimical to public interest and there was widespread protest against permitting the food-stuffs of the nation to come under control of the packing interests. Public sentiment was strongly hostile to what was going on and the federal government decided it had a clean-cut case against the packers of violating the anti-trust laws. Prosecutions were brought but verdicts were never given for the packers made haste to dispose of their outside interests.

However far America has gone in business consolidation and in overlooking violations of anti-trust laws in certain lines of trade and industry, it has not yet reached the point where the consumer is willing to see control of all that he eats taken over by a few great corporations. That was what the nation seemed to be headed for when the packers' combine was broken up.

This national policy has been departed from only in the case of the farmers. They have been permitted under congressional authority to pool their products for the purpose of price fixing, by creating an artificial shortage if necessary. It is only because of the plight of the farmers that consumers do not look upon the policy toward them as inconsistent with that toward the business combine.

STRAW HATS AND HISTORY

The shop windows are blooming with straw hats of the masculine variety, and there are many bold spirits who have donned the summery skimmers, defying good form and bad weather at the same time. This is the zero hour for going over with a new topper, and perhaps the semis and milans, Bangkoks and Panamas, will take on added significance if some of their history is recalled.

Straw hats have been generally used in the United States for only 60 years, but their history reaches far back into antiquity. Mercury, messenger of the gods, and himself something of a god in his own way, is always shown wearing the commonest sort of a straw hat. Praxiteles' statue of June, which dates back to 350 B. C., is crowned with a "stephanos," which is another name for a straw kelly.

In more recent times investigators have discovered that Edmund Spenser, author of the "Faerie Queene" disported in a regulation straw hat in Elizabethan days, and the eighteenth century poet, Thomas Gray, of the "Elegy," boasted that his straw top-piece was lined with green.

SYNOPSIS

The rest of the Vasquez family occupied by Don Hernandez Vasquez and his beautiful granddaughter Dolores, a society political boss. His lawyer, a scoundrel, tried to induce Vasquez to sell. Brandon's nephew, Terry, falls in love with Dolores. Buckwell tries to win Dolores and offers her Vasquez won't listen and tells him that Dolores must marry Don Luis, young Spaniard. Terry is heartbroken, leaves without seeing Dolores, and plans to forget heartache in pleasures of San Francisco's Barbary Coast.

"None of that," retorted Terry with a scowl and roughly shoved her hands away. "I'm paying for this party—don't forget that."

"Well, of all the conceits!" the girl exclaimed with a shrug. "Never mind, kid; you can't affect me—I'm indifferent!" and, sliding off his lap, she flounced across the floor and joined a hivelier group. "Say," she greeted them, "the kid's in the lumps. Maybe a few tears would wash the grouch out of his system. Give me a try at that keyboard."

She sat down to the piano, she broke into a sentimental ballad.

That was in the day when waiters were very agreeable and the little vested quartette that was preparing the table acquiesced when one of the guests asked them for a little close harmony. Putting their heads together, they raised her voices high with "Only a bird in a gilded cage—a beautiful sight to see," etc.

Shouts of laughter greeted the effort, and everyone except Terry joined in the familiar song. They gathered around and did their best to bring him out of his blue funk.

"Snap out of it, Terry, or you'll kill the party." "Try a bunny hug," called the girl at the piano, and she began playing a snappy dance tune.

Terry had reached the point where he was ashamed to continue indulging in his own gloom. To everyone's relief he grabbed a girl and started the two-step. At last the damper was lifted, and the party began to flame in earnest.

While Terry's celebration was in hilarious progress behind closed doors in the private section of the house upstairs, out on the street The Poodle Dog eye blinked and its gleaming lights attracted a myriad of people to the variegated interior. Its reputation was world wide, and its flickering electric sign told all who came near that they had finally arrived.

The busy bar with its long line of bartenders was the meeting place of hundreds of convivial people. The political ring of San Francisco used it as a regular hangout, and many a shady deal was concocted in the booths that lined the room opposite the bar.

Joy seekers came often, for the Poodle Dog cocktails were potent as well as particularly palatable. In short, its broad mahogany counter dispensed liquid sunshine at a speed and regularity that fairly poured the gold and silver into the ever-waiting cash drawer.

For Chris Buckwell to pick the Poodle Dog as the place for closing the deal with Lu Fong was more from fondness of habit than anything else. He was his biggest and steadiest patron. Just the mere fact of its being there meant that scores of his friends and satellites were also present. They welcomed an opportunity to bask in the spotlight of his notoriety and to pick up the crumbs of any political deal that might transpire. And so it happened that when Buckwell, accompanied by Brandon, pushed open the swinging door of the Poodle Dog they were greeted on all sides by men who knew that Buckwell's power in the underworld and in the city's politics could either make them or break them.

The newcomers readily found a vacant place before the bar and ordered their drinks. Brandon took an old fashioned cocktail, and Buckwell took his whisky straight with the remark, "I prefer my liquor straight—and my women—not so straight."

Brandon approved with a smile. While waiting for the bartender to serve them, the sudden cessation of general conversation caused them to turn inquiringly. They saw one of Old San Francisco's famous Barbary Coast characters stride into the bar room.

It was Old Testament Charley. He was familiarly referred to by this cognomen because he was once a preacher, but the vice that was rampant in San Francisco following the gold rush had been too much for his tired, overworked brain and it gave out under the strain. His decision was that he ruled as Emperor of San Francisco and the habits of the Barbary Coast were his particularly misbehaved subjects.

Old Testament Charley was tall and thin with the face of a dreamer, rather than that of a madman. In spite of his continued efforts to reform the world, and San Francisco in particular, he was tolerated the length and breadth of the Cocktail Route for the harmless, kindly and—to many in the saloons—amazing soul that he really was.

Charley's was not the only brilliant mind that had been deranged in an effort to quell the deplorable conditions that existed in Frisco, especially from 1900 to 1906. Many good men lost fortunes, health and reason by repeated attempts to reform the city and some of its unprincipled inhabitants.

Old Testament Charley frowned with the displeasure of a monarch as he surveyed the long line of gay patrons before the bar.

Some of them noted his displeasure and paused long enough to raise their liquor glasses in salute and bow low in mock obeisance.

"It pains me, my good subjects," he commented seriously, "to see you so heedless of my royal edict. You know that I have condemned just such frivolous behavior as this—"

A general laugh interrupted his tirade. Charley was tolerated but not heeded by patrons of the bar. "Here's how, Emperor!" called Buckwell with a cynical smile, and he deliberately drained his whiskey with a quick toss.

Other men followed Buckwell's example and the old man's eyes blazed at the gross insult to his dignity and command.

"And you—" he fairly shouted, pointing at Buckwell with trembling fingers, "you are the backbone of the tenderloin—the backbone of this Mile of Hell."

There was a pause. Voices were hushed and smiles vanished. Everyone looked at Buckwell to see how he would take the direct accusation in public.

His cynical smile did not change, his composure was not ruffled. Buckwell was a man of superb control. It would take more than a fanatic's verbal attack to make him lose his temper.

"But," continued Charley emphatically, "you are destined to perish and decay, and this underworld of which you are king—it too shall perish with thee. Mark well my words!" He spoke with the fervor of a seer and his long arm was extended prophetically at Buckwell.

"Bravo! Bravo!" said Buckwell, applauding the speech, then reaching in a vest pocket he took out a coin. "Here you are, my good man," he offered with tolerant charity and tossed the money in Charley's direction.

The crowd laughed. Buckwell enjoyed the limelight and while eyes were centered on him he ordered a round of drinks for everyone.

Old Testament Charley deftly caught the gold piece, looked at it a minute, then at Buckwell, and spreading his arms, wide, as if to include the whole room, raised his eyes and prayed, "Forgive them my Father, for they know not what they do." He then pocketed the coin and stalked away with great dignity.

"Here's how!" toasted Buckwell, his glass of whiskey upraised to attract the attention of people nearby.

Two small doors swung back and forth on their hinges. Charley had strode from the room while the men were drinking.

"To you!" returned several men in unison.

As much as Buckwell had bought the drinks it was a natural return of toasts, but he did not think of it in that way. He was greatly pleased with himself. He loved the spotlight of notoriety and the fawning advances of those gathered about him, but more than all that he loved the feeling of power and superiority that the incident with Charley had given him.

As Buckwell put his empty glass on the bar he motioned the bartender.

"Yes, boss?" inquired the man in shirt sleeves, bending across the gleaming mahogany surface.

NATIONAL GUARDS PLAN TO HONOR PA. SOLDIERS

Will Act As Guard of Honor
At Memorial Dedication
In France

150 LEAVE SATURDAY

PHILADELPHIA, May 18—(INS)—One hundred and fifty members of the Pennsylvania National Guard today were preparing to leave Saturday from Hoboken for France, where they will act as the guard of honor at the dedication of the memorials erected in commemoration of the service of Keystone State soldiers.

The guard of honor was selected from each unit of the Pennsylvania National Guard and directed to assemble here for organization prior to sailing. Faithful service, attention to duty, military bearing, drill attendance, character, physical activity and value to organization were the standards used in the selection of the men. Memorials which the men will assist in dedicating were built by the Commonwealth under the direction of the Pennsylvania Battle Monument Commission. Expenses of the guard of honor will be paid from a special appropriation made in the last session of the Legislature.

The memorial bridge at Tismes will be dedicated on May 29. On Memorial Day a colonnade at Varannes will be dedicated and later in the afternoon ceremonies will be held at the fountain at Nantillois.

The detail will sail from Cherbourg on June 7.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 18—(INS)—Several hearings were scheduled to be held by the Public Service Commission today.

The initial hearings coming before the commission were: application of the Edison Electric Company for approval of an agreement with the Enterprise Telephone Company for use of facilities in Brownstown, Lancaster County. Applications of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company of Pennsylvania for approval of agreements with the Harmony Electric Company and the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation for joint use of facilities in Chippewa Township, and Woodlawn, Beaver County, were also to be considered.

Hulmeville

Mrs. Humel and two daughters, of Philadelphia, were the guests from Thursday until Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hockmann, of Woodside avenue.

Mrs. Adelaide Schofield, of Main street, Tullytown, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kunkle, of Edgely avenue.

Mrs. Havard Himelright, of Edgely avenue, was a recent visitor in New York.

By defeating Byberry baseball team here last evening Hulmeville men have gained second place in the Tri-County Baseball League. The score last evening in a well-played game was 5 to 0.

Members and friends of the Epworth

League of the M. E. Church, planning to attend the Bristol Group Rally at the Harriman Church this evening, are asked to meet at the corner of Main and Hulme streets at 7.15 o'clock.

Do you need assistance with your housework? A help wanted "ad" in the Courier will help you.

When you ask us to connect you with that out-of-town friend you want personal service. You want courteous, speedy, accurate service.

Every person in the Bell organization aims to give you just that—more, if possible, but certainly no less.

IF YOU'VE EVER BORROWED a Cup of Sugar—

WHEN you must borrow a cup of sugar, or the use of the telephone or a little gas for the car, why do you unhesitatingly appeal to your neighbor?

GROCER, telephone company, filling station would eventually supply your need. But to meet the immediate contingency you call across the back-yard fence. The sugar--and it's good sugar--is handed over. That's service, prompt, efficient, honest. But there's a certain something more to that little transaction--an indefinable something that can scarcely be described in the printed word or illustrated in a catalog. It's a feeling of mutual understanding and reciprocity, as of one who, having lived long among strangers, returns again to his own people; it's the same feeling that inspires this, and our similar messages to you.

IT'S THE SPIRIT OF NEIGHBORLINESS.

AFTER all, Bristol merchants are more than mere merchants. They're neighbors. And if service, prompt, efficient, honest, is essential to true neighborliness--and we believe it is--that's the service Bristol merchants sincerely offer and promise to you.

Cooper. David went to third on the throw in. Riola fled to H. Brady. David scored after the catch. White was again safe on an error. Mangan went out at first, Margerum to Lyden. The "Hubs" had a good chance to win the game but failed to come through. Margerum singled. Lyden followed suit. H. Brady forced Lyden at third, David making a good stop and throw to the play. Hagney struck out, but J. Brady singled for the third time, scoring Lyden. J. Dougherty elected himself to bat for Kervick, and waited for four bad ones, filling the sacks. Lawler watched two strikes whiz by, and then took a mean cut at the third one, but failed to connect, ending the game.

Tonight on St. Ann's field will bring together the Casey-St. Ann's game. Tulio and McIlvaine may draw the pitching assignments.

Four-Day Motor Trip Outlined Through Pa.

Continue on through Galesburg, Connersport, Roulette, Port Allegheny, Laramie, Seshport, Hazle Hurst and Mount Jewett to Kane, the eastern entrance to the Allegheny National Forest. At Kane turn left into the Buffalo-

Pittsburgh Highway, through Ridgeway to Dubois, where the Lakes-to-Sea Highway is met. Follow this road through Clearfield to Phillipsburg. It is suggested that this town be the terminus for the second day's drive.

From Phillipsburg take the William Penn Highway through Tyrone, Water Street and Huntingdon to Mill Creek. Bear right here into the Buchanan Trail, named after the only Pennsylvania man ever elected President of the United States.

This trail follows south to Burnt Camp, named as it is because the town's men's settlement was burned by Indians. A little further on is Fort Littleton, which when first built was an extreme western frontier of America. Lofly peaks surround the trail, but there is no grade that might give concern to the motorist.

Follow on to McConnellsburg, where the Lincoln Highway is met. Turn left into the Lincoln Highway, past Fort Loudon and the James Buchanan State Park. Drive through Chambersburg, Gettysburg, York, Columbia, Lancaster, Coatesville and Paoli to City Line avenue. Turn left on City Line avenue and follow Lincoln Highway to the Boulevard then back to Bristol.

The entire mileage is approximately 740 miles.
